Goals for the Year

The goals I have set for myself while I set in the East this year are basically pretty simple. First of all I would like to see an increase in the regular attendance at our meetings and events. I realize that most people are busy these days but I'm not advocating that everyone make every meeting or event. I also realize that there needs to be a reason to attend. Putting those thoughts together my efforts are going to be aimed at promoting more social activities and events. Social activities for the purpose of pure fellowship and social activities for the purpose of working together on a meaningful 'project'. As I look through our roster I see that Shiloh currently has approximately 140 members. I must admit it would be a stretch for me to state I have actually met even half of them. The ones I have met are great people, so I am anxious to meet the other half.

I would like to submit for consideration the following ideals:

- Meeting for a quick dinner or having a Masonic History/Education session prior to our business meetings;
- Making more of celebration when we confer Master Mason Degrees. Nothing against Oreos, but it seems when we raise someone to the sublime Degree of a Master Mason it warrants a little more;
- More interaction with the Masonic supported foundations (i.e. the Omaha Home for the Boys, Eastern Star Home in Fremont, etc.). I do appreciate that there are many members of Shiloh heavily involved in these Homes already, what I'm suggesting is functions as a 'Lodge' as a whole;

- An occasional, semi-organized 'Night at the Shrine', - a social get together purely for the sake of social interaction – away from our usual meeting place;
- A somewhat ambitious fundraiser in the fall; something that can serve several purposes in addition to raising funds for a worthy cause;

I can't help but believe that if we are an active organization, visible, having fun doing good things, then solid new members will be a natural 'byproduct'.

'just a few thoughts; my contact information is on the front if you care to discuss them further!

Sincerely, Andy Winslow
